

ANNOTATED BIBLIOGRAPHY VERSUS LITERATURE REVIEW

Annotated bibliography comments on the relevance and quality of the information

Literature review establishes a relationship between different sources and highlights gaps in knowledge

Sources are analyzed separately

Information from different sources are analyzed together

The source is indicated at the beginning of each section

The sources are listed at the end of the document, as a bibliography

Sources are listed alphabetically

Sources are integrated together according to relevance